WANT CITY WORKS ON CASH BASIS

Bankers Insist on New Policy in Furnishing $100,000,000.

WOULD CHECK RUSH OF IMPROVEMENTS

It is proposed that the city change its entire financial policy in paying for permanent improvements aside from those that are self-supporting, such as subways, docks and water supsuch as subways, docks and water supply. The Wall Street bankers have insisted upon this as part of the agreement they have undertaken to make with the city to furnish $100,000,000 to meet its outstanding obligations abroad and short term obligations here.

As the situation was serious, Con-As the situation was serious, Controller Predergast and Acting Mayor McAneny have agreed to the proposition. However, the syndicate managers—J. P. Morgan & Co., and Kuhn. Loeb & Co., desire a certified copy of a Board of Estimate resolution fixing the new policy. Controller Prendergast, City Chamberlain Bruere and Acting Mayor McAneny have all sent telegrams to Mayor Mitchell who is in the wilds of New Brunswick, asking him to return at once.

The proposal is that in the future the city shall not issue any such long term bonds, that work already under contract shall be paid for by fifteen-year serial bonds and that all new work shall be paid for out of taxes. This policy will be likely to prevent the cismor for improvements, when it is considered that the cost cannot be sad-dled on future generations, but must be paid for at the time.

The agreement provides for the purchase by the syndicate of $57,000,000 in corporate stock notes and the raising of the remainder of the money through revenue notes sold in anticipation of the collection of taxes.

Substance of Resolution.

The following are the points that the syndicate insists must be covered by a Board of Estimate resolution:

"(1) In so far as the corporate stock notes to be purchased under the proposed contract shall be retired by issues of corporate stock, the corporate stock so issued shall mature in equal annual instalments during a period of not more than fifteen years. The maturing instalments of such corporate stock shall be paid off by including the samount thereof in the annual budget for each year during the life of such corporate stock.

"(2) So far as legally may be agreed, the works already under contract, but in respect of which new bonds are to be issued, are to be interested in the same method as above provided, by the issuance of serial bonds payable in equal annual instalments during a period of not exceeding fifteen years, and provision in the annual budgets shall be made for each such instalment so maturing.

The effect of this will be in the first years to put a somewhat larger amount in the budget than if fifty-year bonds were issued, but the gross outlay, principal and interest, under this system will be many millions less than if long term bonds were issued.

Fifty-year Bond Plan Costly.

"The people of the city should bear in mind that a fifty-year bond, before it is cancelled, means that the city has disbursed three times the amount of the original outlay. Further, so far as entirely new work is concerned, and by that I mean work not already under contract or for which no authorizations are made, it is proposed that these improvements, with the exception of transit, docks and water supply (which are self-sustaining) will be paid for out of each year's taxes.

"This will mean the inclusion in each tax budget of such a sum as the Board of Estimate and Apportionment will determine for permanent improvements, and while at first some may believe that this will be a harship still the very fact that these improvements should be so paid for will be a determine and a most wholesome one upon rent and a most wholesome one upon the innumerable demands that are made upon the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for different improve-ments throughout the city."

The proposed agreement provides that of the $48,000,000 in revenue notes to be purchased by the syndicate $18,000,000 shall be payable in two years and $35,000,000 in three years. But a war clause is inserted to the effect that, inasmuch as article 4 "is negotiated under conditions unprecedented and unforaceable in their outcome, both Great Britain and France being at war and Paris actually in a state of siege, it is expressly understood that in the event that ocean passage between New York and England or New York and France shall not continue open to substantially the same extent as prevails at this date. for each franc. continue open to substantially the same extent as prevails at this date, and the shipment of gold or grain or other American products from New York to England or France shall be materially impeded, or if by reason of any superior force further proceedings shall become impracticable," the synditate shall be relieved of its obligations to provide for the payment to England and France. It will still, however, undertake to provide the $100,000,000 by the purchase of city notes.

the proposed agreement yesterday afternoon, the Controller said:

"It is with the very greatest gratification, as the city's financial officer, that I am giving to you the proposal from Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co. and Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. This proposal represents the successful completion of four weeks of unremitting effort to secure for the city the necessary financial assurances to enable it to dicharge its very large forcign obligations. From the very beginning the foreign debts have, of course, proved our greatest problem.

George W. Ernette, an American Indian, known as "Texas Tex," returned as a consular passenger from Rotterdam via Liverpool. Ernette took a small Wild West show to the Continent se eial months ago, and was camped near Liege when the German troops ad-vanced to that place. He had little money and found it dif-

He had little money and found it difficult to get feed for his seven horses, which he said were his best asset. The Belgians treated him kindly, he said, but they needed his horses and took them. The government officials were willing to pay, but as the seven horses had eaten fodder equivalent in value to the prize of three, the Belgians seized that number and paid him for the four that were commandeered.

that number and paid him for the loar that were commandeered.

G. R. Gifford, of Butler. Penn., who started for the Far East from Sas Francisco a year ago, returned on the Philadelphia, having left Bombay at weeks ago. Gifford was sent by American oil interests to Burma.

He said that there were fears of an unrising among the natives of India.

He said that there were fears of an uprising among the natives of Indis when he left Bombay and that a large party of English army officers and their wives booked to sail on the P. & U. liner Medina had cancelled their departure at the last minute.

The vessel, he said, took aboard $1,000,000 worth of gold bars, which she landed in Liverpool. Between Bombay and Aden a message was received saying that Germany had declared war ing that Germany had declared war upon France, and at Port Said informa-tion was received which told of England's participation in the war.

Gifford said he had seen ten thessand troops which he believed to be Russians marching through Piccadilly

Circus. Among the passengers on the Phila-Among the passengers on the Palla-delphia were Charles E. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Bourdette, G. H. Kendall, Miss E. W. Young, D. E.
